

PLAYING NATIONAL POLITICAL GAME

Alleged Democrat Newspaper Places Bryan in False Light, Writes Willis J. Abbott

Washington, June 14.—Mr. Vorys, superintendent of insurance for the state of Ohio has been in Washington for some days. He has not been at the capital on anything relating to insurance. His errand has not been to urge an administration which received $48,000 from the Equitable Life company, and some $250,000 in all from various insurance companies prior to the election, to take action in behalf of the people who pay extortionate premiums on their life insurance policies and receive insignificant dividends.

Mr. Vorys is managing the campaign for the presidential nomination of Mr. William H. Taft. Mr. Taft, as the field apparent and the Prince Imperial of this administration, enjoys much official support, though well-informed observers are inclined to believe that his strength among the people of the state in which his right must first be made is daily diminishing. In fact the Washington feeling is that Taft as a presidential candidate is today almost out of the running. He has had too much prominence too early in the game. He is identified too closely with an administration which is daily becoming more unpopular. In his own state he has virtually invited the hostility of the senators representing it, and of all their supporters. Should he be nominated the stories of his world-wide travels at public expense, his long and luxurious feasts at the public crib would naturally be told in detail. He would not profit by the fact that the administration has practically annulled the civil service reform law in order to aid him. Nor would it be very greatly to his advantage to have widely noticed the action of the Ohio superintendent of insurance in giving up the business of the office from which he draws his salary in order to push the presidential candidacy of Mr. Taft.

Why Not Be Fair.
The New York World in an editorial printed Monday headed "Bryan and Bryan" quotes Mr. Bryan as saying these things:

"It looks now as though the Republican and Democratic parties would present the two sides of the coming contest. I judge that the Democratic party will be sufficiently Democratic to make a third party unnecessary from a Democratic standpoint. Of course, from a Socialist standpoint there will be reason enough for a party of the kind."

Of course it is possible that Mr. Bryan may have said something of that sort yet it is utterly unlike his usual utterances. When in Washington a few days ago, Mr. Bryan took occasion to correct an alleged interview with him which had appeared in the World, and in other New York newspapers. Unfortunately for themselves, and for him, many of the New York papers have been inclined to misrepresent him. Whether the World has done so in this instance, they purposely or accidentally one cannot tell now. But the most important statement made by Mr. Bryan during his recent visit to the East was the one quoted herewith which was taken down verbatim from his dictation and may be put forth as an absolutely accurate statement of his position on certain questions of importance.

"The trust question, the tariff question and the railroad question all involve the same great principle, namely whether the government should be administered for the benefit of the few or for the benefit of the whole of the people."

"I was not accurately quoted in New York," said Mr. Bryan, "when I was made to say that there were other questions more important than the tariff. I said then, as I have often said before, that these three questions are important."

"Men differ as to which one of these questions is of greatest importance, and I do not think it necessary for the party to designate either of the questions as paramount. I have no doubt the trust question, the tariff question and the railroad question will all occupy public attention, and the Democratic party will favor the extension of tariff reform and insist upon the strict regulation of the railroads."

"A number of other issues will doubtless be included, but these three questions are closely connected and are likely to be considered as really as parts of the same great issue."

"What do you think of the attempt of President Roosevelt to dictate the nomination of a candidate to be his successor?" Mr. Bryan was asked.

"A candidate who is willing to run a reform campaign ought to have a record so clear as not to need a sponsor. An indorsement on a note is not generally required when the maker is good."

BUCK DAY AT CHARI.

TIES CONFERENCE.

(By Associated Press.)
Minneapolis, Minn., June 14.—This was another busy day for the delegates attending the National Conference of Charities and Corrections. A wide variety of topics were considered in the papers and discussions at the general sessions and the meetings of the several sections. Among the subjects that received attention were schools for juvenile delinquents, probation, organized charities in small cities, and state boards and the vagrancy problem.

One of the most interesting and instructive of the side conferences was that held by the section on promotion of health in home, school and factory. The feature was a symposium discussion on the subject of the promotion of health in the home, led by Sherman C. Kingsley, superintendent of the Relief and Aid Society of Chicago. Under the general head the meeting discussed unclean milk and needless waste of baby life, the visiting nurse as sanitarian and teacher, intemperance and slatternly lives, home work for hospital patients, and mothers' meetings.

RICHMOND DAY AT JAMESTOWN

(By Associated Press.)
Norfolk, Va., June 14.—A distinguished delegation from the state capital, sided by scores of enthusiastic visitors from other cities of the Old Dominion united to make Richmond day at the exposition one of the most conspicuous successes of the fair up to the present time. The visitors were welcomed by President Tucker, to whose address Mayor McCarty of Richmond responded. After the formal exercises were concluded the visitors proceeded without delay to take in the sights of the exposition.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

The first symptom of Contagious Blood Poison is usually a little sore or ulcer which does not always excite suspicion because of its insignificance; but as the poison becomes more firmly rooted in the blood, the mouth and throat ulcerate, copper-colored spots appear, a rash breaks out on the body, the hair begins to come out, glands in the neck and groin swell, and often ulcerating sores form on the limbs, hands or face. But this is not all; if the poison is allowed to remain it works down and attacks the bones, causing necrosis or decay, and makes a complete physical wreck of the sufferer. It will not do to tamper with a disease so powerful as Contagious Blood Poison, for every day the virus remains in the blood the trouble is progressing toward a more dangerous stage, and may in the end extend beyond the reach of any treatment. There is but one certain, reliable cure for Contagious Blood Poison, and that is S. S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers. This remedy attacks the disease in the right way by going down into the blood and forcing out every particle of the poison. It makes the blood pure and rich, strengthens the different parts of the body, tones up the system and cures this humiliating and destructive disorder permanently. The improvement commences as soon as the patient gets under the influence of S. S. S., and continues until every vestige of the poison is driven from the blood, and the sufferer completely restored to health. S. S. S. is not an experiment, it is a success and has cured thousands of cases of Contagious Blood Poison in every stage, and being entirely free from minerals, is as safe as well as certain treatment. If you are suffering with this debasing disease get the poison out of your blood with S. S. S. before it does further damage. Special home treatment book on the disease and medical advice sent free to all who write.

BOOMING THE LONE STAR STATE

(By Associated Press.)

Fort Worth, Texas, June 14.—If the conference here were to become better acquainted with the wonderful resources of the Lone Star State it will not be for lack of effort on the part of the Texas Five Million Club, which began a two days' meeting in this city today. The club was organized at a preliminary meeting held at San Antonio some time ago with the distinct purpose of advertising the resources of Texas and the advantages the state offers to settlers and to those desiring to engage in industrial enterprises. The present meeting is well attended by the officers, directors and board of governors of the organization and by other representatives of the agricultural, commercial and manufacturing interests of the state. One of the plans under consideration by the club is the holding of a big exposition in 1911 in celebration of the state's diamond jubilee.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. NOTES OF THE LABOR WORLD

The Kansas City Labor Temple Association has decided to commence work on its new building.

Henry Carey, who died recently at his home in Indianapolis, was at one time president of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

The International Hod Carriers and Building Laborers' Union of America will hold its annual convention in Norfolk early in September.

Judge Cochran, in the federal court at Covington, Ky., recently upheld the law prohibiting common carriers from discriminating against labor organizations.

Special effort is being made by the American Federation of Labor this year to organize vast masses of women workers throughout the country.

Organized labor of Seattle, Wash., is warning all laborers to keep away from Alaska, on account of the strikes, actual and prospective, in that section.

The New York Labor Bulletin, just issued by the department of labor, gives the number of organized men and women in the Empire State as 298,494.

According to John Moe, president of the National Trades and Labor Council of Canada, the Provincial Workmen's Association of Nova Scotia, which is composed largely of miners, has decided to affiliate with the council.

All the linemen in the employ of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company at San Francisco quit working recently in sympathy with the striking air operators, who sought a recognition of their union.

America is held responsible for the May Day unrest and troubles in France. A Paris paper lays the Labor Day disturbance to the door of the United States, declaring that May Day and Co. consequent strikes are purely an American invention.

Five thousand push-cart peddlers, members of the United Citizens Peddlers' Association, are to enter into a co-operative house on the lower east side in New York city. According to plans the building will cost $2,000,000 and will occupy an entire block.

The first labor journal ever published in America by a labor union was The A.W., which was gotten out by shoemakers, and was really the grandfather of the present Shoe Workers' Journal. The A.W. was published by the shoemakers of Lynn, from 1844 to 1846.

The Brotherhood of Silver Workers has made a general demand all over the country for a nine-hour workday at ten hours' pay, but has decided to put it into force in New York and vicinity first, action in other sections to be guided by the results there.

It is reported in Chicago that before the end of the summer more than 200,000 unorganized laborers and clerks employed by Western railroads will receive voluntary increases in wages, which will average 10 per cent. The aggregate increase will be several millions of dollars.

For the purpose of improving the working conditions of federal, state and municipal employees in the United States, a National Committee on Welfare Work for Government Employees has been appointed by the welfare department of the National Civic Federation. Secretary of War Taft is chairman of the committee.

The creation by constitutional amendment of a State Court of Compulsory Arbitration to assume control and adjust all disputes arising between employers and labor organizations is advocated by Governor Gillett of California. The governor has already sketched out a plan of organization of a court of three members to form part of the judiciary system of California.

Remarkable Rescue

That truth is stranger than fiction, has once more been demonstrated in the little town of Fedora, Tenn., the residence of C. V. Pepper. He writes: "I was in bed, entirely disabled with hemorrhages of the lungs and throat. Doctors failed to help me, and all hope had been given up when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Then instant relief came. The coughing soon ceased, the bleeding diminished rapidly, and in three weeks I was able to go to work." Guaranteed cure for coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 at all drug stores. Trial bottle free.
